

Welcome to Gildeskål

The municipality of Gildeskål welcomes Sami Rintala and his group of international architects and students to take part in our development of the four centers of the municipality.

Like most small municipalities in our country, we encounter depopulation, but the Council of the municipality has decided to initiate processes to change the direction of development. To meet the needs and expectations of our future inhabitants, it is essential to cooperate with professionals that have a different and international point of view.

We appreciate the involvement of Sami Rintala and his contribution to finding ways to make things happen. We are confident that you as Sami Rintala's "chosen ones" in working with him will contribute in the same way and look forward to seeing you in Gildeskål in September.

Kjell-Harry Skjellstad will start working for the administration of the municipality August 1st as a project manager and will be your main contact in Gildeskål. Meanwhile I will be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Yours
